Feeling Nostalgic

My work- passion and personal expression. Usually finding inspiration in my immediate surroundings, I create in an emotion state, which can be reflected in the work that is produced.

For this exhibition there are many elements to the work, a snapshot of a fleeting moment, a sneak peek into a personal diary. Creating a world where colour shifts between soft pastels and a vibrant explosion, where two dimensional and three dimensional form collide together to create a fluid stream, navigating the viewer through a playful nostalgic experience.

The series of portraits I have drawn are a collection of snapshots from memories, travels and instagram images. Drifting in and out of frames, their expressions drift from a playful sweetness, curiosity, pure bliss to moody defiance to winking mischief .

Each image romantic, feminine, cheeky and loud, doused in colour and a touch of sparkle.

There are many layers to each image, the stories they tell, the characters they portray.
